

The English Team

Do you know English well and want to keep it alive?

Then maybe the English Team may be right for you.

We are planning to start a new English discussion team for people who have for example used English in their earlier professions, or perhaps lived in the U.S., UK or other places where English is spoken.

This is not a language course, but intended for people who can understand and speak English well enough to take part in discussions.

Initially we will start with just one hour a month and take it from there.

We have a first meeting scheduled for March 18th at 11:00 at RIO-träffen Sandhamnsgatan 4.

I hope to have at least a handful of people to get the group started.

As the discussion subject for the first meeting, I want to hear your views on the best way to learn English and how you did become good at speaking it.

We will then decide how to proceed with further meetings.

Please notify me in advance, so that I know how many people want to participate.
